Spring, 2021 Newsletter

From the Waiahole "Farmily",

The past year has been challenging for many reasons. We are so grateful for the support this community to keep us going. We have greatly missed everyone, especially our field trip students! We are excited to begin offering small group workshops and events this spring following CDC guidelines. Read below for more updates from the farm, how to stay up to date with us, and family fun!

Join our "Farmily"!

Find our college accredited internship program through WVVOOFUSA.com. Live, learn, play, and teach; gardening, aquaponics, entrepreneurship, cooking, education, floral arrangements, and more!

Join us for a Woman's Day Haku Lei making workshop! Stay tuned for more events!

Fruit trees are IN!

Check out our grafted fruit tree collection! All trees are ready to fruit. We have over 20 options!

Due to covid, our Garden Bistro has been closed for a few months. We are excited to responsibly REOPEN this March following CDC guidelines. Come check our bistro with outdoor seating, garden fresh and local foods, and an ocean view!

Family fun activity of the week... Ti log propagation!

1. Cut a 3" section of a Ti plant stem, see photo for reference.
2. Submerge ½" of log vertically into a cup of water
3. Surround the submerged area of the plant with rocks to keep it in place.
4. Change water every few days.
5. Within a few weeks, your Ti plant will have new roots and can be repotted into soil!
